

Hello and introduction for Field Ecology - Marlowe Greenwell

1. Marlowe is just fine

4. I took an online ecology course last fall that I enjoyed immensely, as well as Permaculture with Amber Thumann the same semester. I don't have too much experience, but I am an avid outdoorswoman and excited to learn more!
5. The concept of ecology as a whole makes my brain tickle in the best way. I view the world through a deeply interconnected lens where the action of one thing has direct and indirect reactions and responses from all other. It is confusing and sometimes existential, but learning about and understanding these systems makes me very excited.
6. I am completely comfortable and confident in my abilities in the field physically, however I have fears and concerns for the mathematical and programming related aspects of the class. I am taking GEOG 316 (Methods of Analyzing Geographical Data) this semester as well, so I'm hoping these will be good companion classes, but I am not the greatest when it comes to computers and numbers. I have faith in myself that I will be able to figure it out, but I feel it pertinent to express these concerns.
