5. What fascinates you? (pick a thing or two and share a bit of the fascination)

I am fascinated by the different ways people interact with the land and how they view their interactions. The way people give and take from the land and whether or not they view it as instrumental or intrinsically valuable. I TA for environmental ethics, so this is always at the forefront of my mind, especially at work where we're managing various types of land use.

6. Is there anything else you would like us to know about you before the course starts? Please include any concerns you have about being outdoors and completing academically rigorous work.

I am excited for this semester!
